

Bibliographic Information Creating a Works Consulted

Use the following URL to help you organize the bibliographic information

<http://citationmachine.net/>

Select the style

Select the type of source

The screenshot shows the Citation Machine homepage with the MLA style selected. On the left, there are two sections: PRINT and NON-PRINT. Under PRINT, there are four options: Book - One or more Authors, Encyclopedia or other reference work, Journal Article - One or More Authors, and Magazine Article - One or More Authors. The Book - One or more Authors option is highlighted with a blue bar. Under NON-PRINT, there are three options: Internet Journal or Magazine Article - One or More Authors, Online Encyclopedia (Not defined in MLA Handbook), and Encyclopedia (CD-ROM). The Book - One or more Authors option is also highlighted. On the right, the text reads "CITATION MACHINE Serving Students & Teachers K-12, College, & University". Below this, there is a paragraph of text and a numbered list of three steps: 1. Click the citation format you need and then the type of resource you wish to cite, 2. Complete the Web form that appears with information from your source, and 3. Click Make Citations to generate standard bibliographic and in-text citations. At the bottom right, there is a "Linkbot" section with the text "The primary goal of this tool is to make it so easy for high school, college, and university students, their teachers, and independent researchers in their effort to respect other people's intellectual properties. To use Citation Machine, simply..." and "Save the following link in your bookmarks or links".

Fill in the information and then select "submit"

The screenshot shows the Citation Machine form for a book by one or more authors. The form is titled "M • BOOK • ONE OR MORE AUTHORS". It has several fields: AUTHOR(S) [+] with sub-fields for Last Name (Brown), First Name (John), and Title of book (This Is Only A Test); Edition (This Is Only A Test); Publishing City (Boston); Publishing Company (MacMillan); and Publishing Year (2007). There is also a field for "For in-text parenthetical citations" with sub-fields for Author's last name and Page Number. A "submit" button is at the bottom right.

The program will put the information in the correct order for you
Just copy and paste it into a word document

The screenshot shows the Citation Machine form with the generated citation. The citation is: Brown, John. This Is Only A Test. Boston: MacMillan, 2007. The form also includes a "Return to Form to Correct any Mistakes" button and a "Copy the citation below and paste it into your document." instruction. Below the citation, there is a note: "Use your word processor to format your citations as illustrated below. Do Not Copy this Citation". At the bottom, there is a note: "Parenthetical in text citations. There are usually many variations for these. It may be wise to consult the Style Guide for clarification."
